Ways to Pay for Whole Life

We live in a world of options and we are constantly bombarded by choices. Some of these make our lives more complicated, but many of these choices are created with our satisfaction in mind.

At the Knights of Columbus, every product we offer has been designed solely for the benefit of our members and their families. When I present an option to you, it's because a team of experts has discussed it at length to be certain it serves your best interest.

We have a few options on how you can provide and pay for the whole life coverage that your family needs. Many whole life policies call for premiums to be paid for your entire life or to age 100. But we also offer permanent life coverage with guaranteed cash values (and the potential to earn dividends, which are not guaranteed) through policies that offer a limited period of premium payments.

First, we offer "10 Pay Life" and "20 Pay Life." Consider paying premiums for 10 or 20 years, and never having to pay for the coverage again. The plan is "paid up" and no more premiums are due. The plan stays in force, the death benefit remains intact and the guaranteed cash value continues to grow.

A plan with similar benefits is "Life Paid Up at 65." The difference over 10 or 20 Pay Life plans is that this permanent product requires you to pay premiums until age 65. Then, premiums stop (just in time for retirement), but the plan remains in force.

Finally, the ultimate in limited pay is our Single Premium Life product. Imagine buying life insurance — permanent life insurance — and only paying one single premium? It's possible.

To learn more about these products, our long-term care insurance, disability income or retirement .

Documentary on Father Michael McGivney on DVD

A documentary on the life of the young Connecticut priest who founded the Knights of Columbus is now available on DVD. The film previously aired on several PBS affiliates throughout the United States.

Father Michael McGivney chronicles the life and times of the founder of the Knights of Columbus, which has become the world's largest Catholic fraternal group, with more than 1.8 million members organized in 15,000 councils around the world.

Born in Connecticut of Irish immigrant parents just a few years before the Civil War, Michael McGivney grew up in a time when millions of Catholic immigrants were struggling to overcome poverty and prejudice.

When his own father died suddenly, McGivney interrupted his seminary studies to help care for his mother and siblings. Throughout the immigrant community, he saw families be split apart and devastated by the untimely death of a breadwinner. These tragedies and his experience as pastor had a deep effect on him, leading him to found the Knights of Columbus to aid widows and orphans, thus protecting Catholic families, and to engage in acts of charity and strengthen the faith of its members.

“At a time when Catholics and Catholic immigrants were being marginalized, Father McGivney saw the opportunity to bring the men of his parish together to strengthen their faith, to engage in charitable activities, and to protect their families,” said Knights of Columbus Supreme Knight Carl Anderson. “His work has touched millions of lives, and this documentary film provides an excellent introduction to his life and legacy.”

Through archival footage and dramatic recreations, the gripping one-hour film covers Father McGivney's short but eventful life of 38 years and provides a window into his unique solutions to the challenges his parishioners faced — solutions so timeless they continue to be relevant today.

From ministering to prisoners to aiding widows and orphans, the documentary reveals a priest committed to helping those on the margins of society, a priest who may one day be the first American-born parish priest to be declared a saint. In 2008, the Vatican declared Father McGivney “Venerable,” the first step on the road to sainthood. His cause for beatification is under consideration at the Vatican.

Building a Foundation of Success

Knights of Building a Foundation of Success Knights of Columbus Sets Record for Charity in 2013 During his address at the opening business session of the Organizational Meeting of State Deputies, Supreme Knight Carl Anderson announced that the Knights of Columbus set all-time records for charitable donations and service hours in 2013 by helping in communities worldwide and responding to a number of large-scale humanitarian crises. The K of C's Annual Survey of Fraternal Activity for the year ending Dec.31, 2013, reports that Knights donated record amounts of money and hours of volunteer service — more than $170 million and more than 70.5 million hours. Contributions increased for the 14th consecutive year, growing by more than $2.3 million to $170,135,754. "Charity has been at the heart of the Knights' mission for the past 132 years," said the supreme knight after announcing the figures. "Whether with funds or see Charity, State leaders from across three continents gathered in New Haven, Conn., on Wednesday, June 11, for the annual Organizational Meeting of Knights of Columbus State Deputies. The five-day meeting began with an evening dinner banquet, where state deputies and their wives shared food and conversation with their colleagues from around the globe. Supreme Knight Carl Anderson addressed the gathering regarding the new and unique opportunities facing the state leaders in the year ahead by posing the question, "How do we measure success in the Knights of Columbus as a state deputy?" Success as a Knight and as an organization as a whole is measured by our adherence to the mission defined by Venerable Father Michael J. McGivney 132 years ago when he founded our Order,

Supreme UP preme Knight Anderson said. "He had a vision of what Catholic men could be — and by fulfilling that role, what they could achieve: the service and protection of their families, the service and protection of their Church, and the service and protection of their country," he said. That vision caught fire and was not limited to one state, country or continent, and grew into today's Knights of Columbus. "So our success is how faithful we are to the vision and the dream of Venerable Father Michael McGivney, and his principles of unity, fraternity, and charity," the supreme knight added. Supreme Knight Anderson described some of the projects for the Order in the coming year, including the sponsorship of athletes to attend the International Special Olympics Games in Los Angeles during the summer of 2015. Another initiative is the Knights of Columbus' new program

"Building the Domestic Church: The Family Fully Alive," a multi-dimensional program aimed at strengthening Catholic families that ties in with upcoming synods on the family and the World Meeting of Families.
