CHAPLAIN'S MESSAGE

Reverend James Boccabella, Pastor
Our Lady of Grace Church

E-mail: jimboccabella@msn.com Phone: 301-924-0067

Sometimes we need arbitrary mileposts to gauge where we are, how far we've gotten, how much further we have to go. Our birthdays, anniversaries, and the changing of our calendars each January 1 remind us that, whether we are aware of it or not, time marches on, or, as the Knights remind us, Tempus Fugit, Memento Mori. This can be depressing if we don't remember the true beauty of Christmas – not just the historical event of Jesus' birth but what that birth brought about, the access to eternal glory in Heaven. We are on a pilgrimage back to God, and we are one day closer to our destination than we were yesterday. God does not want us to fear that day, but rather that we look forward to it as the reunion of lovers. If we don't have the latter attitude, we're missing the point of Christmas, and, really, the reason Jesus came into the world.

The best preparation for that day? To show love, to be love, to all around us, starting at home, expanding to our circle of friends, growing to the strangers whom we don't know and who don't know us. This is the final exam before Jesus: "When I was hungry, thirsty, in need, how did you respond?" If you find yourself stymied as to how you will answer that question, make one of your New Year's resolutions to be more involved in the activities of the Council, where many blessed events of kindness and charity and witness to our Faith occur.

We are called to be holy warriors, to be witnesses of a better way of living to all the world, and the Knights stand out significantly as one of the most charitable organizations on the planet. Tempus fugit. How will you respond?

May God bless us all.

Motto: "Lord, direct our actions to fulfill Your will."

DISTRICT DEPUTY'S REPORT

SK Joseph F. Krempasky, District Deputy (30)
E-mail: JKrempasky@gmail.com ~ Phone: 301-570-4891

January 1 - The Feast of Mary, the Mother of God
January 4 - St. Elizabeth Ann Seton

All Grand Knights and Deputies should be planning to attend the Mid-Term Meeting, on January 5 at Columbus Gardens - Baltimore. There will be much to discuss including plans for the upcoming State Convention. Wives are welcome to attend for their day of fun and leisure.

Our New Faith in Action program page is "up and alive" on the K of C website. Announcements regarding the four program categories will be made monthly to update each area of interest.

Form 1728 - Annual Activities Report must be submitted before January 31.

The Special Olympics Partnership Profile Report (form 4584) is due to Supreme before January 31.

Please remember those that are less fortunate during this new year. "Whoever is generous to the poor lends to the Lord, and he will repay him for his deed." (Proverbs, 19:17) We can do this through our Helping Hands program, which gives families the opportunity to assist those in need.

This January 18, U.S. councils will be praying and marching in Washington, DC to show our solidarity against the abortion of unborn children. Councils are encouraged to pre-order signs, stating our position, from K of C Supplies Online.

The first half of our fraternal year is complete. Every council can still achieve the Star Council award. Most do not have much difficulty in accomplishing everything but membership and insurance goals. With a little ingenuity and effort, this too can be accomplished. Please consider enlightening other catholic gentlemen about the wonderful product that comes from the Knights of Columbus.

Vivat Jesus

GRAND KNIGHT'S MESSAGE

GK Steve Sutkowski, Grand Knight

E-mail: ssutko9208@aol.com ~ Phone: 301-890-9308

It is my hope that you all had a very enjoyable and peaceful holiday with family and friends. Our council looks forward to new accomplishments and challenges in the year ahead.

December was a great month for us thanks to the work and commitment of several members and families. I already noted last month the contributions of our cooking and support crew at the Breakfast with Santa and I understand the group cooked up the largest amount of pancakes, etc. in recent years. I am also pleased to report that we had the greatest amount of attendees including kids at our Christmas Party, and special thanks go to our head coordinator and Master of Ceremonies Fred Whitman for his efforts. Recognition also goes out to Joe Feakes and Santa for their wonderful presentation, Jack Giacalone in the Keep Christ in Christmas poster contest winner presentations, Bill Kollins for his work on the raffle, Jim Street for the drinks and set-ups. Innocent and Donna and family for preparations and also the popcorn machine which was a big hit, Chris Romano for the Christmas tree and music, and several others for their work to make this a big hit.

Steve Goldhammer was instrumental once again in our Caroling event at the Montgomery Hospital which had a terrific group join together in song for the benefit of the patients. And last but not least, our thanks to the work performed by Don Hemke in coordinating the delivery, label placements, and distribution of the Matthew Kelly books at our three churches together with several helpers and the individual coordinators at each church.

We have a number of areas of concentration this year including not only membership but advancing members through the various degrees and also bringing back some old members into the fold on an active basis. In addition, fundraising for our various charitable organizations will remain a key objective plus a focus on family events and recognizing our members with health problems and our widows also. I look forward to a great second half of our fraternal year thanks to the team efforts of all of you.

Visit our website at www.kofc6793.org or Facebook page at www.facebook.com/KnightsOfColumbus6793/ to stay informed of our future activities. Attend our business meetings and read our Newsletter to find activities that interest you and join in. Become a more active Brother Knight and support our Council activities.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Happy New Year! It's that time of year when we make resolutions. Have you made any yet? Maybe the realistic question is, "Have you broken some, yet?"

You may have a list of 5, 10 or even as many as 20 resolutions, such as getting in shape, eating healthier foods, improving on prayer life, being more thankful, spending more time with people that matter most in our lives, etc.

If not already on your list, there is one resolution I can help you keep in 2019: Resolve to meet with me this year to update your Family Service Record and see where you stand. Your financial health is critical to your family's future security. As your Knights of Columbus Field Agent, I have a responsibility that I take very seriously in helping my brother knights and their families meet their goals and aspirations and make sure you are on track to make them a reality.

FAITH IN ACTION

Fred Taylor, Chairman, Faith Programs

E-mail: taylorwf8@verizon.net ~ Phone: 301-871-8928

Our Christmas Party was a great event again, the food and fellowship were outstanding! Brother Knight Jack Giacalone announced the winners of the Keep Christ in Christmas poster contest. The posters were delightful as were the winners and their families that attended. We also had many Seminarians there and they always make it a special event.

Brother Knight Don Hemke announced the eleven Seminarians that we are supporting this year, again more than any other Maryland Council. That is something we can all be proud of. Please remember to contribute to the support of our Seminarians. We have two matching challenges in place, one for $1000 and another for $500 that have been posted by Brother Knights. Please take the time to care for and love each other and to pray the Rosary frequently.

ST. MARTIN'S FOOD PANTRY

As part of our Faith in Action Family service programs, we have instituted our Food For Families program. We will be collecting food for St. Martin's Pantry, who provides food to needy families.

There will be a box at all meetings for collecting food items. All food must be unexpired, sealed items. Items in shortest supply are canned soup, canned fruit, pasta sauce, "meals in a can (canned pasta, canned chili, etc.) and dry, unsweetened cereal.

So, when you are grocery shopping this month, pick up an item or two and help feed those in need.

YOU HAVE TO PLAY TO WIN

- First Place – Jim Street ($497.50)

REFLECTIONS

Holiness Offers Christmas Salve For A Wounded Church (by Lawrence P. Grayson)

The Church has been severely wounded by an increasing stream of accusations and investigations of clerical immorality and hierarchical concealment. Cardinal Theodore McCarrick was removed from public ministry in June for an allegation of sexually abusing a minor, and one month later, with further reports that he carnally corrupted adult seminarians over decades, he resigned from the College of Cardinals. In August, the Attorney General of Pennsylvania released a 1,400 page report describing widespread sexual exploitation of adult males in that state by hundreds of priests and pervasive hierarchical cover-up.

Since then, 14 additional attorneys general have begun or announced investigations of the Catholic dioceses in their respective jurisdictions. In October, the U.S. Department of Justice issued subpoenas to probe clerical molestation of children in Pennsylvania. Then, on November 13, while the semi-annual meeting of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) was underway, two class action suits were filed in federal district courts by victims of clerical sexual abuse, one case accusing the USCCB and the Vatican of operating a criminal enterprise under RICO federal racketeering statutes.

And how has the hierarchy responded? With inaction, denial and silence. At the opening of the bishops' meeting, USCCB President Cardinal Daniel DiNardo announced that the Holy See had directed them to not vote on two measures aimed at improving episcopal accountability in sex abuse cases. In his report to the group, Francesco Cesareo, the chairman of the bishops' National Review Board said: "Today, the faithful and the clergy do not trust many of you. They are angry and frustrated, no longer satisfied with words and even with prayer. They seek action." But action was beyond their grasp. After the defeat of a proposal simply to encourage the Holy See to release whatever documents it could about Archbishop McCarrick, one bishop remarked "we cannot seem to speak clearly, even when we want to agree."

Many priests and bishops were stunned by the revelations and are disconcerted by the hierarchical inaction. An aggrieved laity is producing relentless commentary on social media about the betrayal, withholding donations to the Church, and contributing to numerous reports in the secular press. There has been little guidance for thoughtful deliberation, pastoral efforts and healing.

In spite of the moral darkness permeating the Church, things can change. Reform, however, will occur only when the true nature of the problem is recognized and addressed. Bishop Thomas Daly of Spokane remarked, "There is truly a diabolical nature to this crisis." Bishop Richard Stika of Knoxville expressed similar views, stating, "I believe Satan is behind all of this." Both are echoing St. Pope Paul VI, who in 1972, shortly after Vatican Council II, declared that "the smoke of Satan has entered the Church of God."

A spiritual crisis cannot be solved solely with material approaches. As Cardinal DiNardo said at the end of the bishops' meeting: "Our hope for true and deep reform ultimately lies in more than excellent systems, as essential as these are. It requires holiness: the deeply held conviction of the truths of the Gospel and the eager readiness to be transformed by those truths in all aspects of life." The cardinal's solution requires a concerted effort by all Catholics, clerical and lay, to live the faith they profess. They must rid the Church of those who use their positions for selfgratification and the exploitation of others. A reformation can start now by making it not only a period of spiritual reflection, but of repentance and renewal of the Church.

In this call for reform, there is an essential role for the laity. Bishop Thomas Daly of Spokane reminds us that, "During times of corruption and sin in the hierarchy and clergy, God raises up holy lay people and families to call again His Church back to holiness." Bishop Joseph Strickland of Tyler further emphasized that role: "This crisis needs the strongest lay voice possible." We are not in this place at this time by chance. God has willed us to work out our salvation in this period of moral corruption. Jesus, through His coming has given us the means – Grace, the Eucharist, the Sacraments, His Church – to attain that salvation.

Undertake activities to morally strengthen yourself to begin the renewal – say the Rosary daily, spend an hour each week in Eucharistic Adoration, go to Confession, attend Mass more frequently, meditate on the liturgical readings. Pray for the Pope, cardinals, bishops and priests that they are faithful to Christ. Pray that the Church, though it is composed of members with human weaknesses, remains one, catholic, apostolic and holy.

As the current crisis reflects a diabolical influence, corporeal sacrifice is needed. As recently deceased Bishop Robert Morlino of Madison, reminded us, "Some sins, like some demons, can only be driven out by prayer and fasting." And, it may also be time to reinstitute the Prayer to St. Michael following every Mass. When Pope Leo XIII wrote the prayer in 1884, he did so after having a horrific vision of evil spirits attacking and trying to destroy the Church. Although the prayer was no longer mandated after Vatican II, Pope John Paul II urged its continued recitation. The future course of the Church rests within the heart and will of each one of us. If we truly want a Church that fully reflects the teachings of Our Lord, we must lead our lives according to those principles.

AN APOSTLE OF HOPE

St. John Paul II encouraged us to confront evil in the world and to be witnesses of God's love

(by Supreme Knight Carl A. Anderson)

IN OCTOBER, I had the opportunity to be in Kraków, Poland, on the 40th anniversary of St. John Paul II's election as pope. While there, I visited the ground floor apartment at No. 10 Tyniecka Street, where the young Karol Wojtyła and his father lived during the Nazi invasion and occupation of Poland.

They had come to Kraków so that Wojtyła could attend the Jagiellonian University. But after the Nazis closed the university, Wojtyła began working in a limestone quarry. In 1941, he returned from work one evening to find his father in bed, dead of a heart attack. He would later say, "At 20, I had already lost all the people I loved."

Standing in the small, austere apartment in front of the wooden desk at which Wojtyła studied, the bed in which his father died and the tiny wooden stove in the kitchen, one could image the questions Wojtyła asked himself, and the prayers he recited, as his world crashed down around him and he struggled to make decisions about the future.

The day after the visit to Tyniecka Street, I was asked whether St. John Paul II is still relevant. With the images of his apartment still in mind, I said, "For St. John Paul II, evil and suffering were not abstractions, they were very real in his life.

"St. John Paul II was an apostle of hope. He told us, 'Do not be conquered by evil but conquer evil with good' (cf. Rom 12:21). And he showed us that this could be done.

"He knew that the good is also not an abstraction but is a person — a person whose hands and heart care for others. And he called on each of us to take up this task."

I had also left the apartment convinced it was the experiences Wojtyła lived while there that gave him such great connectivity with young Catholics when he was pope — especially at World Youth Days.

In 2002, during the World Youth Day in Toronto, he said: "You are young and the Pope is old.... But the Pope still fully identifies with your hopes and aspirations. Although I have lived through much darkness, under harsh totalitarian regimes, I have seen enough evidence to be unshakably convinced that no difficulty, no fear is so great that it can completely suffocate the hope that springs eternal in the hearts of the young. You are our hope."

Nearly a decade earlier, in Denver, he said to the young pilgrims: "Christ needs you to enlighten the world and to show it the 'path to life.' ...The struggle will be long, and it needs each one of you. Place your intelligence, your talents, your enthusiasm, your compassion and your fortitude at the service of life!"

In the same homily, he called on young Catholics to "become more conscious of your vocation and mission in the Church and in the world." And he repeated to them the words of St. Paul, "I have great confidence in you, I have great pride in you; I am filled with encouragement, I am overflowing with joy"(2 Cor 7:4).

Still today, I meet bishops, priests and nuns who tell me that such encounters with St. John Paul II kindled their religious vocations. Others have said how his words strengthened their vocation to marriage and in the world.

As we prepare for what 2019 will bring to our Church and the world, let us as Knights of Columbus reflect on his words at World Youth Day in Toronto:

"The world you are inheriting is a world which desperately needs a new sense of brotherhood and human solidarity. It is a world which needs to be touched and healed by the beauty and richness of God's love. It needs witnesses to that love."

I am confident that a young priest from New Haven would have agreed!

By founding the Knights of Columbus, Father McGivney gave us a practical way to bring a greater sense of charity and unity within our Church and our communities.

Vivat Jesus!
