Grand Knight's Letter

Dear Brothers:

September was a busy month for the Council. Once again the Council supported the Parish Picnic in amazing style. Thanks to all the Brothers and wives who worked the event to make it the best Parish Picnic ever.

Thanks also to all the Brothers who helped with the Membership Blitz. We have 12 potential candidates. Hopefully all of them can make it to the First Degree we are hosting on Tuesday, October 8th. Please plan on attending this meeting to welcome in the new members. Note this is usually the Council Officer meeting night which is being moved to Tuesday, October 22nd.

On Tuesday, Oct 15th we will have our second Spiritual Outreach Seminar, with Father Jason Weber who will be giving a presentation on Our Lady of Guadalupe. The Seminar will start at 7:30 in Monsignor Hannan Hall. Please email me if you plan to attend so we can have enough refreshments on hand. See the article in the newsletter for more details.

We have some important events coming up this month, which the Deputy Grand Knight will discuss in his article. Please read his section and volunteer for these events.

Remember, we say the Rosary before each meeting starting at 7:10PM. The Rosary is lead by Brother Tom Canavan. Please arrive a little early to say the Rosary with us. Remember we are Mary's Knights!

Each month in the newsletter we will be having a "Did You Know (DYK)" concerning our Council website (www.kofc10947.org). Check it out and learn a few features of our website. I hope you find it helpful.

We have lost four Knights this year, as they were called home to our Lord. The most recent loss, Nelson Esteves, a former Knight, battled Alzheimer's before being called home. He worked at Exxon/Mobil for 30 years. Nelson will be missed.

Also Mary Lou Potenza, the office manager for the Parish Office, passed away. She was a long time friend of the Knights and always helped the Council and promoted the Knights. We will miss her smiling face.

The deaths of our Knights over the past year and a half have been difficult, as many have been close friends. And it is particularly saddening when I learn that some of these Knights did not have Knights of Columbus insurance. Most of them had some sort of insurance, and that is good. Yet the benefits of the Knights of Columbus insurance go way beyond the monetary benefit. Please read this. The major benefit of having an insurance policy or an annuity with the Knights, is that besides having excellent rates, your family gets the benefit of having a Field Agent to help the family with the processing of paperwork, helping with arrangements and knowing how to traverse the many decisions the surviving family members have to make. When you pass on to your heavenly reward, your family has to deal with your loss and make a lot of decisions regarding your viewing, funeral mass, burial, filing for insurance benefits and veterans benefits. Also, if the Knight was a military member, policeman, fireman or first responder who died in the line of duty, his children may be eligible for scholarships. These are important decisions that come at a very devastating time. Our, YOUR Field agents are trained and have years of experience in dealing with assisting the Knights families. Also know that if you do not have a K of C insurance policy or annuity, there is very little the Field Agent can do for your family.

If you think you have it all planned with an insurance policy outside of the Knights, please re-think this and consider taking out even the most modest K of C policy or annuity so that the Field Agent can assist your family in their time of grief. See the Field Agent's article for more

Knight and Family of the Month

Knight of the Month

October's Knight of the Month is an outstanding Knight. He is one of our stalwart Donut Team Captains and is always there to pitch in. He can always be counted on to help with collections, set up events or assist with setting up coffee for special events for the Council and other parish organizations. He is like many of our Knights, who work hard and never seek the limelight but helps the Council in many ways. So it gives me great pleasure to recognize Brother Bob Murphy as our October Knight of the Month.

Family of the Month

October's Family of the Month is at every function and always volunteers to help make our events and meetings go smoothly. They are always there to set up the Hall or the events; they work the events and then help to tear down the events and they stay until it is all cleaned-up. This Knight is in charge of all of our supplies and materials and was a major factor in setting up our first ever soup to nuts inventory (and yes there was soup and nuts). This Knight is also an Usher and can be found at the Vigil Mass helping set up and finding a family to bring up the offertory gifts. As a single parent it is amazing all that this Knight does, but he and his son are there at every event. They are devout Catholics and strong supporters of our Priests. So it gives me great pleasure to recognize our Warden, Brother Mike Paulucci and his son Andrew as our October Family of the Month.

“We believe because we are Catholics – We serve because we are Knights”.

Deputy Grand Knight's Letter

Brother Knights:

I thank everyone for your help supporting the Parish Picnic. It was a lot of work, but with so many pitching in, it really didn't seem like work. Father told us that he appreciated what the Knights did, and he also sent us a thank you letter (see next article).

And I thank the officers for the work they do. Special thanks go to Tony Paulson, who coordinated our recruitment blitz. As a result, we have 12 interested candidates, and six plan to take their first degree in October. If you can, please attend our First Degree at 7:30 pm at St. Andrews on October 8.

This month, we plan to conduct the Compton Road cleanup on Saturday, October 12, at 9 am. The more who attend, the quicker the cleanup will take. It usually takes 1-2 hours. Please help, and family members are welcome.

After the Vigil Mass on Saturday, October 26, we will sponsor our Pasta Dinner. Please plan on attending. Also look for the email requesting volunteers to help. We will need to set up the Hall, cook, and cleanup afterwards. You can volunteer for just one or all of these.

I also want to remind everyone that we sell Christmas cards as a part of our Keep Christ in Christmas Program. If you send Christmas cards, please consider buying cards from this program. We will sell them after Mass probably starting in early November, but they are available earlier if you want.

Thanks for being a Knight.

Tom Martin,

Deputy Grand Knight

The Chaplain's Corner

Dear Brother Knights:

As Saint Paul wrote: well done good and faithful servants! How can I ever thank all of you for all that you did to make another parish picnic such a wonderful success?

God blessed with absolutely perfect weather and kept those pesky bees away that have plagued us in past years. Donna McDowell said that based on her ordering records it was the biggest turnout we have had yet.

So many people came to me that day and the week that followed to say what a great time they had and how much they enjoyed it. The shared with me that they met people who they've seen at church for years but never had spoken to before. Many said that it made an proud to be part of the Saint Andrew the Apostle family.

None of this would have been possible without all of you! Your generosity of time and cooking talents, your organizational skills to set up and tear down and your enthusiasm made the day happen for all of us. It is with an extremely grateful heart that I thank all of you. Service to the parish is one of the pillars of who we are as Knights of Columbus. You make us look great!

I know the good people of Saint Andrew the Apostle join with me in saying thanks for everything. May the Lord bless and reward you for all you do in His Holy Name!

Devotedly yours in the Lord,

Reverend John D. Kelly

Council Website DYK

Tom Browne

As Catholic gentlemen, prayer is (or should be) a big part of our daily lives; and a large part of that is remembering our Brother Knights, their families, and others who are sick, suffering, or who have passed away.

Our new website (www.kofc10947.org) offers Brother Knights the opportunity to submit Prayer Requests, anonymously for all Brothers to view and consider as we go through our daily prayer rituals. It's an electronic form of the Prayer Book that so many Councils maintain.

Once you post a Prayer Request (instructions below), it remains on the site for 30 days as a reminder that someone in our midst is in need of our spiritual assistance.

To submit a prayer request, you need only your Member Number (found on your Council membership card) and your password – which is always your birthday.

After opening the Council Website, click on Prayer Requests (the third item on the left-hand side of the site) then click on the SUBMIT YOUR PRAYER REQUEST button, then enter your member number, password (mmddyyyy) and click SUBMIT. On the next screen, enter the person or persons for whom you want to offer prayers, and then click in the larger window and (if necessary) type the reason you are requesting prayers for that person. Scroll down, click submit and voila! You've submitted a Prayer Request.

On the main Prayer Request screen, by the way, you can also print the current Requests so that you can take them with you to a church or quiet place away from technology...

Next Spiritual Outreach Program

Our second Spiritual Outreach Program of the year is scheduled for Tuesday, October 15 at 7:30 PM and, like our past Spiritual Programs, will be open to the parish. Father Jason Weber will be our guest speaker and his subject will be Our Lady of Guadalupe. Father Weber, who was ordained in 2010 and is currently serving as Parochial Vicar at the Cathedral of St. Thomas More, is very interested in and knowledgeable about the five well-known Marian apparitions that occurred in Mexico in December, 1531 and will be sharing some of his knowledge and insight on this subject with us. Father Weber grew up in Clifton and Fairfax and was a member of our parish in his youth. He graduated from Bishop O'Connell High School and the University of Virginia before entering Mt. Saint Mary Seminary for priestly formation. Be sure to mark your calendar to attend this special program and welcome Fr. Weber back to St. Andrew the Apostle.

The Prodigal Son

James Auwaerter, PGK

Recently, we heard the parable of the prodigal son. In my opinion, this is the richest parable that Jesus gives us, each detail important to the lessons that are being taught.

At the start of the parable, the younger son asks for his share of the estate. This passes so quickly that it's easy to miss exactly what is being asked for. The father's estate would only come to his sons when he died.

The younger son is as good as wishing his father was dead in his greed.

He takes all that was given to him and spends it on a life of dissipation, leaving him nothing when a famine strikes. The fair-weather friends he made have deserted him now that his money is gone. It is when he realizes that in the eyes of those around him, he is of less value than the swine which he feeds (unclean animals to the Pharisees to which this parable was addressed), that he realizes the depth of the mistakes which he has made.

He practices his speech as he returns home. He identifies that he has sinned. He recognizes his own unworthiness, and asks for a small measure of forgiveness. When he sees his father, he begins to say what he has planned to say, but his father cuts him off before he can finish. The father's forgiveness is total, far beyond what the son had expected and what almost any of us would say that he deserved. Certainly, the older son felt that way, and his refusal to come to the celebration was enough to bring the father outside to plead with him.

The older son has followed his father and been a good son, but with the return of his brother, everything has been up-ended. We don't know what is in his heart, though his words give us some clues. He focuses on his hard work in contrast to his brother's life of pleasure. In essence, he asks "Don't I deserve more?" Could it be that he is envious of his brother, who seems to enjoy all the privileges of being the son of a wealthy man with none of the work? In the back of his mind, might he be thinking "He already got his share of the estate; what remains is mine." and thereby commit the exact same sin that his brother already made? But perhaps it is hurt feelings, a mistaken belief that his father does not love him, or loves him less than his brother. And so the father comes out to reassure him of his love, and asks him to come and make the family whole again.

The striking thing about this parable is how open-ended it is. The prodigal son doesn't even get a chance to finish his speech before he swept up into a celebration of his return. When the father pleads with his older son, we don't hear the response. In a sense, it allows us to step into both sons' roles.

The younger son:

When we sin, we take the God-given gifts of our bodies and minds and use them to mean end. Our inheritance is eternal life with God, and it is squandered when we turn away from Him. We see how to seek the gift of forgiveness – with a humble heart, mindful of our failures and aware of our unworthiness. We see the mercy of God and how he rejoices when we return to him. We see that in sin, we are as if dead, and that returning to sin is returning to death, and therefore to be avoided at all costs. We do not know if the younger son held onto his humility; may we hold onto ours.

The older son:

It is easy for us to compare ourselves to others and say “See, I’m not as great a sinner as they are”. We envy the empty pleasures they felt, in contrast to our own lives. We hold past sins against others, and wonder if they are sincere in their repentance. In doing so, we fall into the vice of pride, the root of all sin. If God can forgive them, who are we to do otherwise? Unlike the father’s estate in the parable, God’s mercy is infinite. It does no harm to us if all sinners return to God; on the contrary, it builds us up into a greater whole, a community of believers, an example to all the nations. We do not know if the older son joined in the celebration; may we rejoice as God does when sinners repent.

Affordable Care Act (ACA)

Jim Bertine, PGK, FIC, LUTCF, CLTC

Much has been said and written about the Affordable Care Act (ACA), which was signed into law on March 23, 2010. Because the individual mandate open season begins this coming October 1, 2013, I have attached a PDF [follow the link below] containing some useful information concerning the state of Health Care. The only health products the Knights of Columbus provide its memberships are long-term care and disability insurance. However, I’ve been attending quite a few seminars and classes concerning the ACA and thought you’d find the PDF useful for not only you, but others in your families or friends.

Organ Donation

(The following was presented as a lecture by our Worth Lecturer, James Auwaerter, PGK at our business meeting on October 1, 2013)

We’ve all seen the bumper stickers which say “Don’t take your organs to heaven – heaven knows we need them here.” But what does the Catholic Church have to say about organ transplants?

It’s important to remember that organ transplantation is relatively new, only having been regularly successful since the 1950s. The good news is that organ transplants from a deceased donor pose no moral concerns, beyond the informed consent of the donor-to-be or his or her next of kin, and of course, the assurance that a potential donor is not “left to die” in order to harvest organs. The Catechism is clear that “[i]t is morally inadmissible directly to bring about the disabling mutilation or death of a human being, even in order to delay the death of other persons” (#2296).

Organ transplants from one living patient to another pose a greater moral concern. Theologians debated how the principle of totality should come into effect. The principle of totality relates to what constitutes mutilation of the body – for example, amputating a gangrenous limb preserves the totality of life, while amputating a healthy limb would be mutilation. One side of theologians held that the removal of a healthy organ and potential health problems that might occur constituted mutilation. The other side argued from the perspective of fraternal charity, making a sacrifice to preserve life as Christ commanded us at the Last Supper (“There is no greater love than this: to lay down one’s life for one’s friends.” - John 15:13). From this perspective, the risk of harm to the donor can be weighed against the potential good to the recipient. The principle of totality, rather than applying strictly to the body’s structure, could instead be applied to the body’s function. So while a kidney could be donated with little loss of function, the donation of an eye would still violate the principle of totality.

Pope Pius XII agreed with the latter group of theologians, a position repeated by Pope John Paul II. The conditions put forth for a morally valid donation are the following: (1) the risk to the donor must be proportionate to the good achieved, (2) the removal of the organ must not seriously impair the donor's health or bodily function, (3) the prognosis of acceptance by the recipient must be good, and (4) the donor must make an informed and free decision, recognizing the potential risk.

"Informed and free", by its nature, includes no monetary compensation for the donation. Doing so threatens to eliminate the fraternal charity that is the foundation of living organ donation, and implies that those who have more money deserve better access to transplants. Instead, donation should be based first and foremost on prognosis of acceptance of the organs.

As an aside, xenotransplants (transplants from non-human species) are permitted by the Church, so long as the transplant is expected to work (having a record of success in general, and is not unduly risk for the recipient) and does not impair the genetic or psychological integrity of the recipient.

Respect Life Month

Brother Knights:

The month of October is Respect Life month. I'm sure you have all heard the announcements during Mass from the St. Andrew's Pro-Life Committee about marching in front of the abortion clinic in Manassas. While our church is signing people up for Thursdays, any day when you can go is useful. Brother Henry Dubois and I ran into one another on October 3; I hope that I might see more of you in the weeks to come."
