A Message From Our Grand Knight

GK Brian Landry

Brothers,

One of the foremost principles of our order is our willingness to give of our talents and time for the good of our fellow man. This year has been dedicated by our Supreme Council as the "Year of the Volunteer." I am asking for you to honor this goal by supporting your council and elected officers by being involved with the events and service projects we will be doing over this year. Please consider doing one activity each month. We need help with Donuts Sales after Sunday morning masses beginning in October – and there are the Pancake Breakfasts, Tootsie Roll Drive, and Right to Life March to name a few. I ask you to volunteer 24 hours out of your life as a knight to work with your council brothers and give back to the parish and community this year.

Vivat Jesus,
GK Brian A. Landry

Review by Dave Conca

Fearless by Max Lucado

Let's face it. We all have fears. Poor economy, layoffs, fighting in the Middle East, declining housing market, global warming. With great timing, Max Lucado comes through with his newest book, "Fearless"! In this book, he addresses our fears, and gives us direction on how to overcome them.

Max Lucado has written many books, providing those within the Christian faith (and without) inspiration on many topics. Living a life without fear is very timely and relevant! This book helps us refocus on what is important and take the teachings that Jesus left us to heart to alleviate the things in our life that keep us awake late into the night. He points out that the Gospels list some 125 Christ-issued imperatives. Of these, 21 urge us 'not to be afraid' or 'not fear' or 'have courage' or 'take heart' or 'be of good cheer'. The second most common command, to love God and neighbor, appears on only eight occasions. If quantity is any indicator, he points out, Jesus takes our fears seriously! The one statement He made more than any other was this: don't be afraid.

Throughout this book, Lucado offers welcome wisdom about the internal battles we face daily. Fears like being afraid that our lives don't matter, disappointing God and being afraid of the afterlife. He defines and identifies the cancer of fear that touches every human being, and speaks healing words that go right to the heart. While there are no 'fast fix' or simple cures for the fear-bound individual, Lucado's tempered counsel and faith-driven remedies offer day-by-day spiritual medicine.

In each chapter, Lucado addresses a common fear, relates it to an incident from the life and teachings of Jesus, and illustrates it with a story or personal experience. This book delivers encouragement and inspiration to its readers, as do all of Lucado's books!

Social Meeting Hot Dog! Highlights

Were you lucky enough to enjoy a Mexican hot dog at the social meeting August 27th? If not, better luck next time! Thank you José for the special treat!

Retired fireman and active council member, Greg Jaeger gave us an excellent and informative CPR demonstration.

Deputy Grand Knight, Fred Falgiano presented certificates for completing both the second and third degree exemplifications at St. Elizabeth Ann Seton August 15, 2009 to Frank Saavedra, Greg Jaeger, Chad Mullenberg and Brian Deevers.

September th

Knights of Columbus World Day of Prayer for Peace

While Sept. 11 will always be remembered for the tragic loss of life, Knights hope that this somber occasion will be the foundation of an annual opportunity for a day of earnest prayer for peace in the world.

To commemorate this tragedy with dignity and hope, the Supreme Council passed a resolution in 2004 to observe September 11 as a day of prayer for peace.

“The World Day of Prayer for Peace will bring to the world the Church’s message of peace and reconciliation, so that religion will always be a cause for mutual respect and harmony, and never for violence or hatred,” said Supreme Knight Carl A. Anderson.
