June 2010, Issue 23

Brothers

This is the end of my second term as your Grand Knight. Thank you for this opportunity to lead. I look back at all that you have done to keep this Parish and Community whole with pride and praise. It is you who make this Council recognized and successful. I have many short comings but it is you who step up and complete me. Thank you again for your trust.

Vivat Jesus

Memorial Day is not only a big Sale Day each year . On May 31st we give thanks for the many Americans that gave their lives to insure the safety of our families and country. Some of us remember WW II and Korea. All of us remember Viet Nam. Now our attention is on Iraq and Afghanistan. New worries in Korea. The youth of our nation are still giving their blood and lives for our country.

Let's remember them not only on May 31st but every day. God Bless and Keep them.

Readers Review

by Dave Conca

The Gospels in Brief by Leo Tolstoy

Leo Tolstoy, best known for War and Peace, followed an interesting path to Christianity. He was born in 1828, near Moscow. By the age of 33, he had squandered most of his inheritance through gambling and partying. He also served as an officer in the army, viewing the horrors of war. These experiences led him to Christianity.

Tolstoy rearranges the Gospel to tell a story about the teachings of Jesus. He pulls together different parts of each Gospel that have a common theme and arranges them into short chapters. For example, chapter three is 'The Kingdom of God. Christ's Testimony Concerning John'. He brings together readings from Matthew, Luke and John, that relate to this topic, directly quoting the Bible. He follows this up with his own commentary and opinion on what we should derive from this lesson.

I found it very interesting, especially coming from a legendary author, growing up in Russia, a country not necessarily known for embracing Christianity.

Tolstoy sums this writing up beautifully in his Afterword. "The understanding of life, is the doing of good". A credo to live by!
